

Creative Commons License Information

The material on this website is covered by a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported License, <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/> and <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/legalcode>.

Participants in the conference agreed to the distribution of this material under a Creative Commons license, under which their words, voices, and images remain in their ownership while Arizona State University may make this available to the public. In a few instances, participants requested additional restrictions to preserve the privacy of participants in their own projects – restrictions which we have honored. For more information about the use of Creative Commons for the collection of data with research participants see Jack Dougherty and Candace Simpson, Who Owns Oral History? A Creative Commons Solution. In Oral History in the Digital Age, edited by Doug Boyd, Steve Cohen, Brad Rakerd, and Dean Rehberger. Washington, DC: Institute of Library and Museum Services, 2012. Available at <http://digitalrepository.trincoll.edu/facpub/58/>